Footnotes on WILD ANIMALS

by THE OLD HUNTER

The CHEETAH—Native of Africa and India, this spotted cat-like animal can run faster than the swiftest deer. Its well-padded paws and well-muscled hind legs give it tremendous spring, silent stalking power. Unlike other cats, its claws cannot retract.

The MOLE—This tiny North American mammal lives under the ground where it digs tunnels with its large and powerful front feet. It crawls along in a swimming motion, feeds on beetles, worms and small insects. Its "digging" feet are many times larger than its hind feet. It is virtually blind.

Civilized man needs help when it comes to sure-footed traction, speed and jumping power. U. S. Keds with their "live-rubber" soles give you speed, maneuverability and plenty of spring, so important in basketball, baseball and all action games.
